UNION SERVICE.

Notwithstanding the intense heat a large congregation gathered at Trinity church Sunday evening at the union service held in the interest of a local Young Men's Christian Association. Rev. C. O. Jenkins was assisted in the preliminary services by Rev. Dr. N. M. Sower and Rev. W. J. Cross. Special music was rendered by a quartette composed of Mrs. F. H. Merrill, Mrs. F. H. Puffer, H. S. Chapman and W. S. Smith. L. L. Leonard, cornetist, Master Fred Whittier, violinist, and Miss H. J. Cross. Mr. Leonard played "The Lord Chord" with rare purity of tone and perfection of execution, the quartette sang "Come My Soul, Thou Must Be Waking," Mrs. Merrill and Miss Cross sang a duet and the quartette rendered "When I Have Crossed the Bar," with violin obligato by Master Whittier.

The principal address of the evening was given by Secretary Merrill on "The Young Men's Christian Association." Mr. Merrill argued that outside the church the Young Men's Christian Association has done more than any other agency to help young men. He traced the early history of the movement from its inception in London in 1841, and its birth in that city in 1844, under the leadership of George Williams, down to the present time, when it circles the globe with over 6,000 associations and a membership of over 500,000.

Secretary Merrill showed that in America the movement is commended and supported by men prominent in every business and profession, who believe the association works for the salvation and christian culture of young men, coupled with all around work of the broadest sort.

In closing Mr. Merrill dwelt upon the work of the local association during the five years of its existence. Its future success depends upon two things—men and money. It was the hope of all who heard him that Mr. Merrill's prophetic vision of the Montpelier Association will prove a reality.

Rev. C. O. Jenkins followed Secretary Merrill in a few earnest words, picturing the Young Men's Christian Association as the strong right hand of the church, and as a feeder for all the churches, which need not only men and money but appreciation. It is a power for good which the churches of Montpelier cannot afford to ignore, with which they should work in Christian fellowship and with the closest harmony.

I have for sale a registered Jersey bull from the celebrated Hood stock farm. This animal is a son of Belle Boma, five years old, docile and gentle as a calf and sure as a begetter of offspring. He is a thoroughbred animal on both the sire and dam side, his dam, Belle Boma, his dam, holding a record for butter, producing over twenty pounds a week. Price reasonable. Call on or address, F. B. Cahill, Jr., Plainfield, Vt.

Unless D. B. Celly of West Berlin lets up capturing bees some one will be introduced into the next Legislature to protect these animals. Up in the woods near the Moretown line Mr. Celly trapped a bee on Friday night that weighed nearly 20 pounds. This is the fifth bee Mr. Celly has captured in Washington county within a year, and easily makes him the champion bee hunter of Vermont.

Seneca Hazleton of Burlington, was on Friday appointed Supreme Court reporter by Chief Judge Taft to fill the vacancy caused by the elevation of Hon. Wendell P. Stafford to the bench. His appointment came from Mr. Hazleton entirely unsolicited. It is commended by members of the bar as entirely fit and proper. The reporter of the Supreme Court decisions requires a thorough knowledge of the law, literary ability, and a keen insight, all of which it is conceded Mr. Hazleton possesses in a marked degree.

Attention is again called to the action of the trustees of the Rutland Public Library at the time of their purchase of the books and property of the Montpelier Public Library Association. They then voted "that all who were stockholders of the Montpelier Public Library Association, March 19, 1900, who were not inhabitants of Montpelier, are hereby granted the same privileges as to books of the Rutland Public Library that the inhabitants of Montpelier have."

Stone Brothers' delivery team indulged in a lively runaway Monday on State street, making the corner at Main street, where the wagon crashed into a bicycle rack containing three wheels owned by the employees of the Montpelier Savings Bank.

WILLIAMSTOWN GULF.

A Wild and Picturesque Spot. Its Primitive Attractions Intact. A Delightful Summer Resort. The New Gulf House. Seekers of Recreation May Go Further and Fare Worse.

Vermont is not the Scotland of America, as it is some times called, but the State holds in this country about the same rank, in respect of natural attractions, as do the Highlands of Scotland in the Old World.

"Williamstown Gulf,"—unpoetic name—in the literature of Scott would be the delightful highland pass it is and the great Scottish poet would have invested it with all the romance and glory he gave to highland glens. He would have clothed the sides of the towering hills, rising abruptly from the precincts of the ravine,

"With boughs that quaked at every breath,
Grey birch and aspen wept beneath;
Alone the ash and warrior oak
Cast anchor in the rifted rock
And, higher yet, the pine tree hung
His shaggy trunk and frequent fringe
Where seemed the cliffs to meet on high,
His boughs athwart the narrow sky;
Highest of all, where white peaks glanced,
Where glittering streamers waved and danced,
The wanderer's eye could barely view
The summer heaven's delicious blue;
So wonderful was, the whole might seem
The scenery of a fairy dream."

Sitting on the veranda of the Gulf House, gazing down the narrow defile and up the almost perpendicular side of the hill, some hundreds of feet above you, with brother heights interlocking and towering around, one might easily people the glen with Fitz James,

"As following Roderick's stride, he drew
That seeming lone path way through."
and expect to see at their chieftain's whistle spring up from copse and heath "bonnets and spears and banded bows," and every bush "give life to plumed warrior armed for strife." The locality and its surroundings are strikingly suggestive of the mountain labyrinth out of which Roderick Dhu, in the numbers of the Lady of the Lake, led Scotland's lost and wandering king.

As a summer resort the Gulf had disappeared from public notice since the burning of the old hotel there some twelve or thirteen years ago. During the past year E. J. Gale has built a new and large hotel, in the midst of the hills, near the locality of the old one. There are broad verandas, and in the interior, airy corridors, a commodious office and dining room, and large sleeping rooms, single and in suites. The verandas are supplemented with bath and toilet rooms, all with modern furnishings. The interior is finished in natural woods, in bright and cheery, the furniture is new and stylish, the beds comfortable and the appointments everything the most fastidious could desire. The table and service are as good as at the best hotel in the State. The lighting is by acetylene gas, from tasteful fixtures. A pool table, ball room, piano, and other means of enjoyment, are provided for the evenings, or for forbidding weather, or for those whom the external charms of the place do not always attract.

The drives through and around the Gulf are very attractive, and for pedestrians Mr. Gale has constructed pathways through the woods and up the hills, which render good view points and shady retreats easily accessible.

Mr. Gale has purchased some ninety acres of the surrounding woodlands to insure their preservation, and from year to year will improve the tract and add to the means of summer recreation. The place is easily reached by carriage drive from Montpelier, Barre and surrounding towns, or by rail to Williamstown and thence by carriage to the Gulf. In Mr. Gale and his assistant, Mr. Bass, visitors will find caterers to their comfort and enjoyment, who are familiar with the business and leave no effort untried to make their stay a pleasant one.

There is no more delightful, or restful, or desirable place for a summer vacation, or for rest and recuperation. The Gulf is easily reached, the expense is slight, and all the requirements of a rational summer resort exist in the natural surroundings or are supplied by the proprietor. Mr. Gale's enterprise merits the fullest encouragement, locally and from abroad, and the Gulf House deserves to be filled from the opening to the close of the season. Those who have been his guests since the opening of the new house are his best advertisement.

Cushman Reed.

A very pretty home wedding took place on Wednesday, July 13, at the residence of Mr. George B. Reed in Cambridge, Mass., the contracting parties being Mr. L. W. Cushman, of the English Literature in the Nevada State University, Reno, Nev., and Miss Mary B. Reed, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Reed. The bride was dressed in crepe de chine, over silk, and carried bride roses. The family pastor, Rev. Dr. McKim, being absent in Europe, the bride's cousin, Rev. Dr. George B. Spaulding of Syracuse, N. Y., and the Rev. W. N. Mason of Epworth church, Cambridge, officiated at the wedding. Dorothy, the five-years-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cushman, acted as ring bearer, and the bride's maid of honor. The parlors were tastefully decorated with flowers and foliage. Only relatives and a few immediate friends were present at the wedding, and the reception followed. Among these were the bride's aunts, Mrs. Josephine Poland, her daughter, Mary, her niece, Miss Annie Reed of Chicago, Mrs. D. Spaulding and her daughter, Mattie, of Syracuse, N. Y., Miss Belle and Miss Lottie Cross, Mrs. Mary Walton Dowey and Mr. and Mrs. Higginson of Cambridge, Col. C. W. Higgins, Mr. William C. Lane, librarian at Mr. William H. Tillinghast, assistant librarian, of Harvard University Library and Mr. Charles K. Bolton, librarian of the Boston Athenaeum Library. A plentiful collation was partaken of, and the bride was the recipient of many beautiful presents.

Does Coffee Agree With You?

If not, drink Grain-O made from pure grains. A lady writes: "The first time I made Grain-O I did not like it, but after using it for one week nothing would induce me to go back to coffee." It nourishes and feeds the system. The children can drink it freely with great benefit. It is the strengthening substance of pure grains. Get a package today from your grocery, for the low directions in making it, and you will have a delicious and healthful beverage for old and young. 15c and 25c.

THE ORANGE COUNTY DEAL.

Editor of Watchman and Journal:—Henry Waterman was reported to have advised the Democrats of Kentucky to shut their eyes and take the Goebel ticket straight, as they did their whiskey; but conscientious and self-respecting Republicans of Orange county will need to hold their noses as well as shut their eyes to swallow the bad eggs that were mixed into the dose prepared for them by the political doctors at our late county convention.

Some of our political papers—Grant papers—were reported to have advised the good Republican majority this fall, we must quit quarreling among ourselves, i. e., take the dose we give you. But there is no need of that. We should endorse Tammany methods for that purpose. We know of no rotten eggs in the State ticket. We can give that a good old-fashioned majority and at the same time help our State by keeping unworthy men out of the Legislature. It is better to send no representative from town or county than to send the bargain counter stamp on men. It will take more than two columns of the rotten Times to straighten out the "angles" of that ticket so it will run on a straight road.

Whatever others may do, there is one Republican in the county who cannot be delivered to Bill Viall by any bargaining demagogue. If I must vote for a Democrat I prefer to vote for a true one, every time, rather than for one who is sailing under false colors, and if the Democratic candidate for Senator in the Randolph district is a decent man I wish he may be elected rather than Mr. Viall.

well known in Montpelier, talks about

MAGNETIC TREATMENT.

NORTHFIELD, Vt., July 12, 1900.

For nearly 40 years I have been a great sufferer from rheumatism, and have paid out more than two thousand dollars for doctors and medicines, and still had rheumatism. Last April I was hard up and sick. My head was badly affected. I believe I was threatened with apoplexy. My blood all rushed to my head. My face was purple and I was dizzy. One side of my head got numb. I thought I was called for. I went to see Prof. B. Geo. Wilkins one evening and he told me what ailed me, and said he could cure me. I doubted it but knew I must try something so told him to go to work. He gave me relief at once and cured me in a few days. In fact, he saved my life. I have only been treated four times and I have not seen such health for months. I feel to commend Prof. Wilkins to the public. He knows his business and demonstrates it in a practical way.

Respectfully yours,
S. A. HATCH.

DEAD TO THE WORLD

And Blind to His Own Interest

A man must be to throw our Real Estate opportunities over his shoulder. The cheapest way to live on the top shelf is to own a home and to save the difference between rent and the small amount required for taxes and insurance. Through us a good property may also be secured which will pay a handsome annual dividend and increase in value.

READ THIS LIST CAREFULLY.

Here is a good Plainfield farm, situated on what is called the Brook road leading from Plainfield village to Washington. Place is only 3 miles from creamery and Plainfield post office. Contains 160 acres land, about 40 of which are tillage, and 75 woodland, balance pasture. Good sugar orchard of over 800 apples. Buildings are in good repair. There are two houses on the place. One is a story and half brick and contains 11 rooms, the other contains 6 rooms. Both are in good repair. Barns are also in good repair and consist of one 30x40 with basement, and one 30x40 with no basement. Place should keep 20 cows and team. There are probably 3,000 run of hard wood on place. Price is only $3,000. If you do not care to put much money into a place this will interest you.

Farm owned by H. R. Leonard, Washington, Vt. Place is known as the Denniston Flint farm or Flinty place. Contains about 175 acres, divided into 60 acres tillage, 45 acres woodland, and 70 acres pasture. The cow barn is 20x40 feet and there is also a horse barn which has a basement under it. Running water at the cow barn. Place is situated 3 miles from the creamery, 2 1/2 miles from graded or 1-2 mile from district school, and 1-2 mile from the post office. There is an insurance of $2,700 on the place to pay for twice. House contains 6 rooms in fairly good condition. There is a two story house on place which is not much good only for the material in it. Assessed for $700. Price $500. Terms $250 cash.

Store and Shop. A general store, located in South Cabot. Connected with the store is a good tenement containing 6 rooms. Also barn connected. Buildings in good repair. Also blacksmith shop, nearly new. Good place for a man with a small capital to make money as the nearest store is 4 miles away. Public telephone in the store. Price for store, tenement and blacksmith shop, with 1-4 acre of land, only $600. Will sell separately if one does not wish both. Other information cheerfully given.

Livery Stable, Blacksmith Shop and Tenement. Livery will accommodate 15 horses and is in good repair. Good blacksmith shop connected with the livery is also in good repair. Both are all right and ready for business. If you have a little money and are willing to put in some good hard work you can make money by buying this. The location is one of the most desirable. Other information cheerfully given.

Old established Grocery Business. Located in Barre City. Carries a stock of about $3,000. This is also a good opportunity to make money.

We will be pleased to answer any correspondence regarding the above properties if it is not convenient for you to call at our office.

If you have property which you would like to sell we will be glad to hear from you regarding it. There will positively be no cost to you unless a sale is made. LET US HEAR FROM YOU.

DOHERTY ON THE RAMPAGE.

Charles Doherty, the convicted murderer, who is confined in jail here, had another of his fighting fits Saturday. Deputy Sheriffs Tracy and Templeton decided that they would clean out Doherty's cell. When they attempted to enter the cell, Doherty grasped a chair and swinging it over his head threatened to brain them if they attempted to enter his cell.

Mr. Tracy dove under the chair and was grappled with Doherty and was followed by Mr. Templeton. After a hot tussle Doherty was dragged into the corridor and placed in a chair and Officers DeWitt and Whittier stood guard over him while the other officers cleaned the cell. He made one fruitless attempt to break away from his guard but was quickly restrained. His actions are giving rise to the query as to whether he is insane or only ugly.

VERMONT NEWS.

The farm buildings of Frank Slayton, of Elmore were burned Friday morning. The fire caught around a chimney in the kitchen. The barn was built about fifteen years ago at an expense of about $2,000. There was an insurance of $2,700 on the buildings aside from personal property and furniture.

Rev. Dr. Gerald H. Beard of South Norwalk, Conn., has accepted a call from the Collage street Congregational church of Burlington. Dr. Beard has been at South Norwalk eight years. During that time he has raised a debt of $35,000 on the church and been active in the temperance and Sunday observance movement. His resignation takes effect September 30.
